

A Guide to Archives and Manuscript Collections
related to the Boy Scouts of America

Compiled May 4, 2008

By: David L. Peavy

The following is guide to archives – along with a description of the scope and content of the collection – which contain material related to the Boy Scouts of America (BSA). Because of the amount of primary documents related to the BSA in collections around the country, this listing is not to be regarded as complete, however, the most important and significant collections are included and marked (*). The guide is arranged by the geographic location of the repository (state or country).

Additions to this guide will be made upon receipt of additional information. If you're aware of a collection not listed, please send the following information to david.peavy@paxtu.org: Creator of collection, title of collection, name of the repository, location of the repository, a brief description of the scope and content of the collection, and, if available, a URL of the collection/finding aid.

Alabama

BSA Troop 7, and Auburn United Methodist Church. Auburn United Methodist Church, Records, 1850-1988. Auburn University Archives. Auburn, AL. Contents: Typescript of membership register (1850-1883), with Sunday School class rolls, births, and marriages; Sunday School record book (1893-1900); board minutes (1958-1976); financial statements and budgets (1950-1982); directories (1976-1980); and miscellaneous bulletins (1955-1978); records (1941) of Boy Scout Troup 7; and a history (1965) of the Auburn Wesleyan Service Guild. Records of the Auburn United Methodist women, including a ledger (1960-1975); budgets (1978-1981); minutes (1982-1987); yearbooks (1961-1984); and correspondence (1986-1987).

Hunt, Guy. Governor's High Risk Youth Program (GHRY) grant files, 1988-1992. Alabama Department of Archives and History. Montgomery, AL. Contents: The High Risk Youth Program (GHRY) was established around 1987 under Governor Guy Hunt. This program was begun to assist organizations designed to discourage youths from drug use, dropping out of school, and gang membership. This series consists of contracts, financial statements, outlines of the GHRY program, audit reports and applications (both accepted and denied). Among the organizations that cooperated with this program were: boys and girls clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Centers and Help Centers.

Thomas, Daniel H. Judge Daniel H. Thomas Scrapbooks, 1951-1996. University of South Alabama Archives. Mobile, AL. Contents: This collection consists of 13 personal scrapbooks spanning the entire tenure of this federal judge. It also contains one bound volume of congratulatory letters written to Judge Thomas upon the 15th anniversary of his installation as well as miscellaneous speeches, letters and articles about the judge. Within the scrapbooks are a myriad of items including news clippings, brochures, programs, letters, photographs, telegrams, cards, and invitations. www.usouthal.edu/archives/html/manuscript/thomas.htm

Arkansas

Ragsdale, John Gails. John Gails Ragsdale Papers: Original documents, photographs, and clippings, ca. 1918-1972. Manuscript collection MC 1329, Special Collections, University of Arkansas Libraries. Fayetteville, AR. Contents: Papers contain diplomas, certificates, commissions, photographs, and newspaper clippings pertaining to John G. Ragsdale. The materials consist of about seventy items.

Arizona

Flagstaff Women's Club. Manuscript collection, 1916-1996. Special Collections and Archives Department, Cline Library, Northern Arizona University. Flagstaff, AZ. Contents: The collection contains Women's Club minutes, financial ledgers, and scrapbooks of newspaper clippings related to the organization's activities. The collection is primarily an administrative collection that would be best used for data collection regarding charitable activities of the organization.

Westerners. Tucson Corral. Westerners records, 1953-1996. Library and Archives, Southern Arizona Division, Arizona Historical Society. Tucson, AZ. Contents: Summary: Typescripts, copy photographs and other material related to the Westerners monthly seminars or their publications, "The Smoke Signal". Most of the material will be found elsewhere; the photographs are all reproduced from AHS Collections except a few of the Little Outfit Ranch School in Patagonia, Arizona. There is original correspondence between Otis Chidester and Calvin B. Detwiler with Detwiler's reminiscences about the Boy Scouts, 1968-1979. One newsletter, is present of the "Fort Cannonball", dated 1968. Authors of papers include Charles Ames, Ann C. Bruce, Ronald Hudson, Norman L. Rue, Bob Kubista, Frank U. Robinson, and Tami Wharfield.

California

Boy Scouts of America Collection of ephemeral material, 1838-1993 (Special Collections M0855). Department of Special Collections and University Archives, Libraries, Stanford University. Stanford, CA. Contents: The ephemera in this collection was gathered from a Scouter's point of view, and includes materials which might have been collected over a lifetime career in scouting. The majority of the material in the collection reflects what a Scout leader or executive would want or require for successful organization and management of scouting activities, as well as career development. This includes brochures on better scouting, training materials, administrative paperwork, and inspirational posters and texts. There are several posters and calendars by well-known artists and Boy Scout supporters, Joseph Csatori and Norman Rockwell. Another area which is well-represented in the collection is newspaper articles and media and marketing materials. These include publications by scouting organizations as well as articles concerning the Boy Scouts. Additionally, information on major Boy Scout events is included in the collection. Unfortunately, the broker who sold the collection to the library lost the files which contained biographical information on the original collector of the BSA Ephemera during a relocation of the brokerage business. As a result, the original processor was responsible for the ordering and sequencing of all materials. This sequencing reflects the subject categories common to the organization of the Boy Scouts of America and the hierarchical order common to other finding aids. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=tf4m3nb0b4&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

California vacation albums, 1908-1924 (MS-R067). Special Collections and Archives, The UC Irvine Libraries, University of California. Irvine, CA. Contents: This collection is comprised of six early-20th-century albums of uncertain provenance containing photographic prints, postcards, and photomechanical reproductions that document the vacation experiences of the creator of each album. Locales depicted are chiefly in Southern California, but also include areas throughout the rest of California and the Western states and, in a few cases, in the Eastern United States. The images document the California landscape and its native flora and fauna as they appeared during the first decades of the 20th century. Subjects depicted include missions, national parks, street scenes, domestic scenes, historic buildings, deserts, beaches, mountains, and lakes. Includes Boy Scout camp scenes in the 20s.

Adams, James D. (interviewee), and Carla Ehat (interviewer). Oral history: James D. Adams 1982. Anne T. Kent California Room, Marin County Free Library. San Rafael, CA. Contents: 87 year old famous litigation lawyer, 50 year resident of Marin, son of a Professor of History at Stanford. Educated at Stanford & Harvard. History includes WWI as flyer; 60 years with law firm of McCutchen, Doyle, Brown & Emerson, and his WWII experiences in Navy as XO & then CO of an ACORN unit. Concludes this session of taping with his involvement in Marin with American Legion; President, Boy Scouts; President, Meadow Club; Chairman, Save the Trains and Ferries; Trustee, Katherine Branson School; editor of "Old Marin With Love": Juvenile Court Referee; Prison ministry Episcopal Diocese of California; Marin County Historical Society. Truly a remarkable man.

American Children's Fund. American Children's Fund Records, 1923-1950. Hoover Institution Archives. Stanford, CA. Contents: Correspondence, memoranda, reports, minutes, financial records, and printed matter, relating to funding of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Boys' Clubs of America and other organizations carrying out work in the areas of child health and welfare in the United States. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=tf8s2006nx&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

Boy Scouts of America. Collection on the Boy Scouts of America 1953 Jamboree in Irvine. University of California, Irvine. Library. Special Collections and Archives. Irvine, CA. Contents: This collection comprises material documenting the first Boy Scouts of America jamboree ever to be held in California, which took place in 1953 at the Irvine Ranch near Santa Ana. The collection includes a photograph album, likely the property of Elbert Ostrander, documenting the jamboree and the journey of Troop 4 from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, to Irvine; and the brochure All aboard! for the national jamboree, Irvine Ranch. There is also a scrapbook of Troop 26, from Berkeley and Walnut Creek, California, containing mimeograph reports, rosters, photographs, maps, printed scouting ephemera, and newspaper clippings, and indicating camp layouts at the jamboree. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=kt900024cp&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

Burnham, Frederick Russell. Frederick Russell Burnham Papers, 1879-1979. Hoover Institution Archives. Stanford, CA. Contents: Correspondence, speeches and writings, clippings, other printed matter, photographs, and memorabilia, relating to the Matabele Wars of 1893 and 1896 in Rhodesia, the Boer War, exploration expeditions in Africa, and gold mining in Alaska during the Klondike gold rush. Burnham was the chief scout of the British forces engaged in the Boer War. In 1901, having been wounded, he left South Africa for London. The papers of Frederick Burnham are not all in one place. One stray item is in the National Archives of Zimbabwe. The remainder are split between Yale University Library and the Hoover Institution's Archives. The papers at Yale University were gifted by Major Burnham's widow in 1951. Those at the Hoover Institution she gifted in 1978 and contain a substantial number of transcripts, that is to say copies laboriously made by hand from diaries, letters, etc. the originals of which are (in most cases, at least) now at Yale. One file of correspondence at the Hoover Institution Archives contains both transcripts and the originals from which they were copied: the transcripts are highly accurate. That the same is true of the other transcripts at the Hoover Institution can not, however, be guaranteed. Whilst some papers are in both repositories (the originals at Yale and the transcripts at the Hoover Institution) this is by no means the whole picture. Some papers at Yale (on mines in Chile and China, for instance) are not duplicated in the papers at the Hoover Institution. Vice versa, some materials at the Hoover Institution are not duplicates of papers at Yale. Correspondence regarding Boy Scouting, as well as with both Lord and Lady Baden-Powell on such subjects as: Boer War; Boy Scouts; British army training; Yacqui Valley, Mexico; are included. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=tf6n39n86s&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

Emanu-El Congregation (San Francisco). Emanu-El Congregation, San Francisco Records, 1849-1995 (67/6). Judah L. Magnes Museum, The Western Jewish History Center. Berkeley, CA. Contents: The documents in the Emanu-El Congregation, San Francisco collection were donated to WJHC in 1967 by Marshall Kuhn and other Emanu-El congregants. Additional documents have been added over the years, including copies of The Scroll (a publication of the Emanu-El Religious School) through 1995. Also included in the collection are microfilm copies of documents still held by the congregation. Collection was reprocessed in 1999. This collection documents Congregation Emanu-El from its inception through the 1960s with scattered records to 1995. Due to the artificial (coming from a variety of sources) and unofficial nature of the collection it is very uneven in its documentation of the institution. The collection includes some corporate materials (bylaws, minutes, financial and other official records), as well as clippings, programs, correspondence, marriage certificates, photos and publications. The bulk of the collection consists of materials pertaining to Emanu-El's active and vigorous Religious School including information on Confirmation Classes (1866-1975) and copies of the school's publication, The Scroll (1921-1995). The next largest series covers Services and Special Events (religious services, special events including concerts, plays, and anniversary celebrations), and information on several Emanu-El associated clubs (including Boy Scout Troop 17). Also included are a few early marriage certificates, Home of Peace Cemetery records, and information on rabbis and other people associated with Emanu-El (including sermons and speeches), as well as Emanu-El's various buildings. Photographs include a number of stereopticon views of the Sutter Street Temple both before and after the 1906 earthquake. The collection also contains a complete issue of the September 21, 1906 Emanu-El. The majority of the records consist of scattered items within the date ranges listed. This collection also includes three reels of microfilm and a video tape all housed in box 7. Two reels consist of several volumes of minutes, a scrapbook, and cemetery records which are not otherwise represented in the collection. The third reel includes 8 folders of documents some of which are otherwise represented in the collection. A copy of the microfilm inventory is included at the end of the Series/Folder List, and some items are cross-referenced within the Series/Folder List as well. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=kt9f59q7ht&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

Hoover, Herbert. Herbert Hoover Subject Collection, 1895-1987. Hoover Institution Archives. Stanford, CA. Contents: Correspondence, speeches and writings, appointment calendars, printed matter, photographs, motion picture film, and sound recordings, relating to twentieth-century American politics, and to relief administration in World Wars I and II. Several folders relating to both the Boy and Girl Scouts. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=tf758005bj&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

Ibach, Marion, Carla Ehat, Marin County Free Library, T. Kent Anne, and California History Room Oral History Program. Oral history: Marion Ibach 1983. Anne T. Kent California Room Oral History Project. San Rafael, CA. Contents: Outstanding volunteer worker of Marin, a public health nurse involved in the creation of Marin General Hospital. Tells the story of achieving the building of the hospital from the location of the site, the funding, the staffing, volunteer programs, growth and goals for the future. Mrs. Ibach was also a founding member of the Hearing & Speech Center, Marin Home Care, Bay Area & Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Board and was active in the T.B. Association, March of Dimes, Boy Scouts, League of Women Voters and the Juvenile Justice Court Auxiliary.

Johnson, Oscar. Photographs of Sea Scout Ship Navigator (120), 1938-1950 (P06-028). Historic Documents Department, San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park, National Park Service. San Francisco, CA. Contents: The collection consists of 35 copy negatives selected from three albums of photographic prints related to the Sea Scouts and their activities in Aquatic Park, San Francisco including activities aboard Sea Scout Ship Navigator and landscape features of Aquatic Park between 1938 and 1950.

Keating, Thomas F., Carla Ehat, Marin County Free Library, T. Kent Anne, and California History Room Oral History Program. Oral history: Judge Thomas F. Keating 1982. Anne T. Kent California Room Oral History Project. San Rafael, CA. Contents: Retired lawyer (1931-1950); State Senator (1936-1950); Judge of Superior Court of Marin (1950-1972); and son of Sheriff Jack Keating. Born in Sausalito, Judge Keating tells the story of his parents and grandparents (Irish born), his life as a boy in Marin and at Duncan Mills and Occidental, his school days at Tamalpais High School, U.C. Berkeley, University of San Francisco, Hastings College of Law. He recalls his vast experiences as a Legislator in Sacramento, his marriage to Margaret Schearer, his years on the bench and the many community activities he has given so much of his energy to, e.g. Marin County Historical Society, Boy Scouts, Redwood Empire Association.

Marcus, Alice Albert, Carla Ehat, Marin County Free Library, T. Kent Anne, and California History Room Oral History Program. Oral history: Alice Marcus 1975. Anne T. Kent California Room Oral History Project. San Rafael, CA. Contents: Alice is the daughter of Jacob Albert (1871-1946), pioneer merchant and civic leader of San Rafael. Recorded at her residence in Greenbrae, California, Mrs. Marcus, who is a native Californian, tells of her father's arrival in Marin in 1892, a peddler from Lithuania with no money, but a strong desire to succeed. He died 50 years later with a multi-million dollar fortune. She relates how her father started the first dry goods store in San Rafael, known as the Wonder Store, how he built the first office building, known as the Albert Building, how he donated land for a park and gave a building to the Marin Boy Scouts. He was founder of Albert's Department stores, located in San Rafael (now Macy's), Napa, Richmond, and Mill Valley. A remarkable gentleman, who gave back to the city he loved much more than he received.

Matthes, François. François Matthes papers, 1874-1965 (bulk 1900-1950), BANC MSS C-B 821. The Bancroft Library, University of California. Berkeley, CA. Contents: The François Matthes papers consist of personal and professional correspondence and writings spanning his academic life as a student in the 1890s, through his professional career as a geologist, to his death in 1948. Included are artwork, letters, newspaper clippings, typescripts, abstracts, notes, maps, and field books. Also included are materials from posthumously published books, book reviews, and biographical sketches gathered by colleagues and family members as late as 1963. The bulk of the material in this collection dates from 1900 to 1950. Although Matthes and his wife had no children, he shared his great love of the outdoors with the Boy Scouts of America. He became the scoutmaster of a Washington D.C. troop in 1915, and later in 1920 took a group of eagle scouts from the East Coast on a tour though Yosemite. So beloved was he by the Boy Scouts, that he was honored with a Silver Beaver award in 1931. Matthes also received other honors in his lifetime. Earlier, in 1920, he was decorated as Chevalier in the Order of Leopold II, by King Albert of Belgium for his work on the glacial history of Yosemite. He was also an honorary vice president of the Sierra Club, and belonged to the American Geophysical Union, the Association of American Geographers, and the British Glaciological Society. In 1947, when Matthes retired from the Geological Survey, he was honored with a gold medal for his distinguished service.

McAdoo, William Gibbs. William G. McAdoo Papers, 1823-1992 (bulk 1936-1941). The Huntington Library. San Marino, CA. Contents: The earlier materials are letters to and from William Gibbs McAdoo's grandfather, Charles R. Floyd. Much of the McAdoo correspondence deals with his public appearances and engagements as a United States senator and also his attempt at reelection in 1938. Also of interest is McAdoo's involvement with the first Pan-American flight in 1936 and Franklin Delano Roosevelt's campaign trip to California in July 1938. A photo of WGM with scouts, as well as one folder containing BSA related clippings and brochures are in the collection.

———. William Gibbs McAdoo Papers, 1902-1938. Department of Special Collections, Charles E. Young Research Library, University of California. Los Angeles, CA. Contents: William Gibbs McAdoo (1863-1941) was a lawyer with a practice in Chattanooga, Tennessee before relocating to New York City in 1892. He developed system of rapid transit tunnels under the Hudson River and was president (1902-13) of the company which built them. In 1912, McAdoo served as vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and was later appointed Secretary of the Treasury (1913). During World War I, he served as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. He moved to Los Angeles, California (1922) and served as a Democrat in the U.S. Senate (1933-38). The collection consists of correspondence, financial records, and clippings related to the personal life and political career of William Gibbs McAdoo. Correspondence and related material concerning McAdoo's activities with the Boy Scouts of America, 1919-20 (Boxes 5-6).

Mullins, Jeanne Woodruff. Woodruff (Ennis C.) Papers, 1912-1968 (Mss155). Holt-Atherton Department of Special Collections, University of the Pacific Library. Stockton, CA. Contents: Electrical engineer, Ennis Casselberry Woodruff (1894-1977), graduated from the University of California (1916), taught aviation at the same institution during World War I, and was then employed by Pacific Gas and Electric in the San Joaquin County region for nearly forty years (1920-1959). He also taught a safety course at the University during World War II (1943). While employed by PG & E, and, especially after his retirement, Woodruff served as an electrical consultant to: the College of the Pacific (1947-62); the Stockton Unified School District (1932-1957); various commercial enterprises in Stockton--most notably the Lincoln Village Shopping Center (1961-67); and, some lumber companies in the Eureka area (1950s). Woodruff was also involved in Stockton community affairs, notably with the Boy Scouts, for whom he established the first local Explorer Troop. His hobby was flower gardening, work which he approached (and documented) with the same meticulous thoroughness he applied to engineering activities. The Woodruff Papers contain: correspondence; datebooks (1916-1958); professional notes, drawings and plans pertaining to Woodruff's lengthy career as an electrical engineer in San Joaquin County (1920-1968). They also contain: Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff's school notes; early financial records (1912-17); gardening records (1950s); and, miscellaneous biographical materials.

Murray, William Paul, Jr., Carla Ehat, Marin County Free Library, T. Kent Anne, and California History Room Oral History Program. Oral history: William Paul Murray, Jr. 1982. Anne T. Kent California Room Oral History Project. San Rafael, CA. Contents: President of the Bank of Marin and Chairman of the Board of the Independent Bank Shares Corporation (a group of six independent banks located in Marin, Sonoma, Mendocino, Lake, Solano, Sierra, Nevada, and Placer Counties), he is the son of William P. Murray who founded the Bank of Marin in the 1920's. Both father and son were born in San Rafael. A dedicated member of the community, he was active in Rotary, Boy Scouts, the Historical Society, and the Park Commission. He explains the growth in banking, the many changes it has undergone such as drive-up windows, which was his father's idea, and details the function of a banker in the community.

Peters, E. J. Papers of E. J. Peters, 1905-1973. Center for Mennonite Brethren Studies, Fresno Pacific University. Fresno, CA. Contents: Includes correspondence from various boards and committees that E.J. Peters served on, 1959-1971; a scrapbook of his life, 1905-1973; an agriculture scrapbook, 1947-1965; a radio station KWSO and Rotary Club scrapbook, 1949-1973; a Boy Scouts, Fair Board, MEDA, and Education scrapbook, 1948-1971; and undated miscellaneous items. <http://fresno.edu/dept/library/cmbs/archives/m189.pdf>

Queer Nation. Queer Nation Records, 1990-1996 (bulk dates 1990-1991), 93-2. The Gay and Lesbian Historical Society of Northern California. San Francisco, CA. Contents: The Queer Nation San Francisco records (1 linear foot) document the weekly meetings, regular political and cultural actions, and press coverage of this short-lived but prominent coalition of the early 1990s. The records range from the group's inception in 1990 until 1991 (with the addition of an open letter published in 1996 intended to clarify the group's founding). The records are divided into five series: chronological, visuals, focus groups, communications, and non-Queer Nation San Francisco. A folder on Queer Scouts is included in the collection. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=tf029000gc&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

Reinhardt, Aurelia Henry. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt Papers, 1877-1948. Special Collections Department, F.W. Olin Library, Mills College. Oakland, CA. Contents: The archive consists of eight series: Series I. Personal and Family Papers, 1824-1948; Series II. Office of the President Files, 1916-1943; Series III. Rosalind Keep files, 1916-1948; Series IV. American Association of University Women, 1919-1932; Series V. Writings of Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, 1905-1947; Series VI. George Hedley Collection, 1802-1958 (bulk 1956-1958); Series VII. Newspaper Clippings, 1914-1948; Series VIII. Photographs. Several folders regarding both Boy & Girl Scouting are in the collection. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=tf0d5n97q6&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

San Francisco Call, San Francisco Call Bulletin, San Francisco News-Call Bulletin, and News-Call Bulletin. The San Francisco News-Call Bulletin newspaper photograph archive, ca. 1915-1965 (BANC PIC 1959.010--NEG). The Bancroft Library, University of California, Berkeley. Berkeley, CA. Contents: This collections chiefly consists of photographic negatives of San Francisco Bay Area news events taken by staff photographers of The News-Call Bulletin and its predecessors, The Call Bulletin and The Call, which were daily newspapers of San Francisco, Calif. Negative files RESTRICTED: available for use by appointment with the Curator of Pictorial Collections or the Archivist for Pictorial Collections. Photographic print files remain unarranged and unavailable for access. Inquiries concerning these materials should be directed, in writing, to the Head of Public Services, The Bancroft Library. http://content.cdlib.org/view?docId=tf338n99v6&doc.view=entire_text&brand=oac

San Francisco Jewish Community Center. San Francisco Jewish Community Center Collection, 1878-1979 (79/A). Judah L. Magnes Museum, The Western Jewish History Center. Berkeley, CA. Contents: The collection provides an overview of the SFJCC's activities between 1930, its incorporation, and 1979, the year the collection was donated to WJHC. The building campaign, recreation, social, and educational programs, financial records, board matters, and general administrative files comprise the bulk of the collection. In addition, there are files from the YM/YWHA, from which the SFJCC evolved, and from United Jewish Community Centers, the coordinating body of the Marin, San Francisco, and Peninsula Jewish Community Centers that was formed in 1960. There are photographs of YM/YWHA and SFJCC activities, ledgers and journals, and paper files. The Jewish Welfare Federation collection at WJHC (79A) may provide more information about the SFJCC. Several folders for both Boy & Girls Scouting (20s-50s) are in the collection.

Sierra Club. Sierra Club Members Papers (BANC MSS 71/295 c). The Bancroft Library, University of California, Berkeley, CA. Contents: A wide variety of Sierra Club leaders are represented in this collection, including staff members engaged in national environmental politics; activists of critical importance to the development of the conservation movement in the United States; and volunteer activists involved in local conservation efforts. The papers, mostly correspondence and subject files, are a rich resource not only as a record of individual conservation activities but also for the history of the Club itself. Since the Sierra Club Mills Tower office and all the records within were destroyed in the 1906 earthquake and fire, the history of the Club during its first decades can best be traced by examining early members' papers. The most extensive group of early materials is found in the papers of William E. Colby. Papers are sketchy for the decades of the 1910s through the 1930s. David R. Brower's papers document conservation battles won and lost, including the long fight to stop the building of dams and roads within the national parks. Material in the collection include diaries and training manuals for the Boy Scouts of America, from 1927 to 1932.

Stuart, Reginald Ray. Reginald Ray Stuart Papers (MSS 6). Holt-Atherton Department of Special Collections, University of the Pacific Libraries, Stockton, CA. Contents: Author, historian, educator, realtor and collector. Stuart taught school in Oakland, Calif. (1914-1947). Subsequently, he became a realtor in partnership with first wife, Grace Harris. Stuart acquired property in Saratoga, Calif. that he later gave to Boy Scouts of America. Transactions involving this land, known as Camp Stuart, are described in papers. Series 1, consisting of 1 box, pertains to Stuart family genealogy. Series 2, consisting of 3 boxes, contains R.R. Stuart's personal diaries (1923-1975). Series 3, consisting of 7 boxes, contains R.R. Stuart's correspondence (1904-1970). Series 4, consisting of 2 boxes, contains R.R. Stuart's business papers. Series 5, consisting of 1 box, contains R.R. Stuart's teaching records. Series 6, consisting of 3 boxes, contains drafts of R.R. Stuart's writings. Series 7, consisting of 1 box, contains miscellaneous Stuart family papers. Series 8, consisting of 4 boxes, contains reminiscences about various families collected by R.R. Stuart. Series 9, consisting of 1 box, contains photographs.

UC Berkeley. Department of Anthropology. Records of the Department of Anthropology, 1901-[ongoing], CU-23. University Archives, The Bancroft Library, University of California, Berkeley, CA. Contents: The bulk of this collection consists of correspondence files maintained by the Department of Anthropology for the period of A.L. Kroeber's career, although it includes others prominent in the department throughout this period. These files reflect the professional and research interests of the department, as evidenced by this departmental correspondence, which includes interoffice memoranda, correspondence with professional colleagues, information from individuals interested primarily in Indian groups in California, including native informants, and simple letters of inquiry about anthropology, objects found, etc. There is often overlap between the correspondence in these departmental files and correspondence in individual's personal papers. The collection also includes some early reports and accounts, some correspondence about museum acquisitions, and syllabi and exam questions. Transfers of later material includes personnel rosters, minutes of meetings, visiting scholar and research associate files, budget materials, and student files (which are restricted).

Camp, Walter Chauncey. Walter Chauncey Camp papers, 1870-1983 (bulk 1870-1925). Manuscripts and Archives, Yale University Library. New Haven, CT. Contents: The papers consist of correspondence, writings, photographs and family papers, and document Walter Camp's devotion to sports and in particular to football, which form he greatly modified. In his voluminous correspondence with Yale football stars, players at other universities, football coaches and sports associations, the interpretation of football rules forms one of the principal topics of correspondence. Prominent figures include George A. Ade, Thomas L. McClung, Vance D. McCormick, S. Brinckerhoff Thorne, Ray Tompkins, Alonzo Stagg and Fielding H. Yost. Camp's interest in physical fitness was put into action during World War I when he organized exercise programs for elderly men, a special program for Washington officials, and ultimately developed his "Daily Dozen" exercises for the Navy. These activities are reflected in his correspondence with Newton D. Baker, Josephus Daniels, John W. Davis, William G. McAdoo, Franklin D. Roosevelt and William Howard Taft. He also corresponded with Theodore Roosevelt, 1905 and 1908, in connection with a commission set up to investigate fatalities in football during the season of 1905. Approximately twelve feet of the papers are made up of Camp's writings, which include articles, rule manuals, reviews and books. Half the material is devoted to football and another large section is on physical fitness. An important section of the papers is made up of questionnaires, reports and comments of the Football Investigating Committee set up in 1893 to investigate injuries incurred during the game. The original schedules returned by twenty-one colleges and seventeen preparatory schools are in the papers. There are also a number of family photographs, photographs of Camp's physical fitness programs and of sports events. A small amount of family correspondence (1884-1934) as well as the correspondence (1950-1980) of Camp's daughter, Janet Camp Troxell, concerning him are also included. Some 20,000 clippings (1866-1925) chart the development of American sports, particularly football, but also cover track, rowing, golf and others. Articles by and about Walter Camp written between 1883 and 1925 are part of the clipping collection.

Lawton, Lewis H., and Walter L. Shearer. Bartley Crucible and Refractories Co. Records, 1909-1972. Archives Center, National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution. Washington, DC. Contents: The records document the activities of two small businessmen, Lewis H. Lawton and Walter L. Shearer. The first is a good case study of a small business foundering and failing in the Depression, the second of an essentially one-man firm finding small-scaled success in a specialty market. There are records for all four firms. None of the groups is complete. The business papers and the Shearer papers and ephemera represent selections of much larger bodies of material, while the Lawton papers are an accidentally preserved sample from the plant. The Shearer materials have been sampled to present a picture of his education, personality, and social life. The surviving material is primarily the correspondence of Lawton and Shearer as head of the firm. The letters document the Depression-related decline and rebirth of the firm, particularly the credit problems faced by small industrial businesses in the 1930s. The main body of correspondence is directly with customers. There is also correspondence between Lawton and his regional traveling salesmen and sales agents. It gives an interesting picture of the life and routines of the industrial traveling salesman in the years 1926-1932. The records of Rouse & Shearer are primarily Walter Shearer's correspondence. They document the full extent of his activities, including making colored aggregates and glazes, dental procelain and novelties, and running a general testing laboratory. The records of all four firms contain occasional observations on general economic and political conditions during the New Deal. Lewis Lawton's personal papers are surviving fragments from 1929 and 1937. The latter deal primarily with his attempt to refinance the company. The papers for 1929 show him as a local business leader on the brink of the Depression. The records also include a sample of ephemera, reports and letters collected by Walter Shearer and covering his life from grammar school (ca. 1910) through college down to the time he took over Bartley in 1940. They give a good picture of middle-class daily life in the 1920s and 1930s.

Hoover, Herbert. Belgian-American Educational Foundation Papers, 1920-1964. Herbert Hoover Presidential Library and Museum. West Branch, IA. Contents: Correspondence, memoranda, reports, minutes of meetings, financial reports, clippings and printed materials relating to the educational programs of: the BAEF, the American Child Health Association, the American Relief Administration, the Belgian child health project, the Better Homes in America movement, the Commission for Relief in Belgium, the Hoover Institution, and the U.S. Food Administration. Also included are files concerning the annual meetings and benevolence fund of the CRB/ARA Association. These files occasionally provide important glimpses into the inner workings of the CRB, the U.S. Food Administration and the ARA, especially the Russian relief effort of 1921-23 which was conducted by the ARA. Child welfare organizations in both countries have benefitted extensively from grants made by the BAEF and its sister organization in Belgium. These have included programs as diverse as the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, the Women's Division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, the Hoover Institution (Stanford, CA), the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, underwriting for White House conferences on child health and home ownership during the Hoover administration, and support for the programs of the American Child Health Association and the Better Homes in America movement. Other projects have included funding for the rebuilding of Belgian university libraries destroyed in World War I, food relief packages for Belgian intellectuals during World War II, and a Belgian child health project in the middle 1920's, focused on dental hygiene, which brought Belgian teachers to the U.S. for in-service training.

Arbaugh, William G. William G. Arbaugh Papers 1926-1958 (bulk 1951-1958). Personal paper Collection, Archives, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. Elk Grove Village, IL. Contents: This series documents the final years spent in Puerto Rico by the Rev. William G. Arbaugh, primarily 1951 to mid-1956, with scattered letters from before 1951. It also documents the two and a half years, 1956-1958, which Arbaugh worked at the United Lutheran Church in America headquarters in New York City. Most of the series consists of Arbaugh's outgoing correspondence. Of that, most are addressed to his wife and children, with some to his mother and brother. The remainder is addressed to associates in the West Indies mission, Caribbean Synod, and at church headquarters in New York. There are also some letters received by Arbaugh from family and associates. The series also contains photographs, evidently taken by Arbaugh, of West Indies mission work in the U.S. Virgin islands in 1941. Records are from 1926-1958 with the bulk dating from 1951-1958. The series is arranged into two subseries: correspondence and photographs. The correspondence, arranged chronologically, is very revealing both as to Arbaugh's professional and personal lives as he wrote frankly and voluminously on a variety of topics. In relation to his work in Puerto Rico and Latin America his letters are full of observations and commentary on events and developments, including: the Puerto Rico nationalist insurrection, under date November 1, 1950; his role in providing impetus for the formation of the Caribbean Synod, November 1, 1951; and his criticism of the Lutheran Peace Fellowship for elevating the cause of peace above that of "the world's response to the Gospel of the Kingdom of God," December 26, 1952. Though a very earnest and hard-working individual, Arbaugh also had a sense of humor which had frequent play within his correspondence. On November 2, 1953, he wrote "One of the worst curses of modern civilization is about to descend on Puerto Rico-television. The first TV station in PR, 'Telemundo,' opens January first and many houses have been fitted with antlers already." While many of Arbaugh's letters present his work and beliefs as a church leader, many were also devoted to his role as a father, son, and parent. For example, he frequently plied his son with advice about how to obtain a good wife. He also was a careful financial planner and provided typed copies of the family budget to his wife and children.

Arbaugh's practice of addressing family members requires some explanation. In his correspondence he always referred to his own mother as "mother," even when discussing her with his own children, while referring to their own mother as "Clara." Clara, on the other hand, always signed herself "mother" when writing their children. The photographs (three black and white prints and 54 negatives) are of scenes of the Lutheran church and its agencies in the U.S. Virgin Islands (mostly of the Queen Louise Home in Frederiksted) and date from around 1941.

Boy Scouts of America. Boy Scouts of America. East Chicago Public Library. East Chicago, IL. Contents: Black and white photographs which include: scouts camping in the Indiana Dunes, 1914; Sea Scouts; banquets, ceremonies and activities spanning four decades.

Dinger, Ralph E., Edith Bayer, and Lutheran Council in the USA. Division of Mission Ministry. Department of National Youth Agency. Correspondence Files, 1964-1987. Civic youth-serving agencies in which the Department was involved included Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, 4-H clubs, Boys and Girls Clubs of America, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America, and the American Red Cross. Specific programs administered by the Department included the God-Home-Country program, and the Pro Deo et Patria program for Lutheran Boy Scouts and Explorers (both replaced by a Lutheran Living Faith program in 1983), and the Lamb Award. Correspondents include Department Director Ralph E. Dinger; Secretary to the Director Edith Bayer; National Lutheran Association of Scouters officials; LCUSA and Division of Mission and Ministry staff; LCUSA church body youth boards and parish services departments; Programs of Religious Activities with Youth (PRAY) leaders; civic youth-serving agency officials; Lutheran Brotherhood officials; and youth involved in the programs.

Howie, Hillis L. Prairie Trek Expeditions Records, 1926-1982. Manuscript and Visual Collections Department, William Henry Smith Memorial Library, Indiana Historical Society. Indianapolis, IN. Contents: The Prairie Trek Expeditions is a summer camping activity for young adults in the American Southwest. It combines camping with educational experiences in the natural sciences, archaeology, and crafts. The Trek began in 1926 when Hillis L. Howie, scoutmaster of Indianapolis Troop 18, led a group of Boy Scouts on a tour of the American West. The Trek's activities were expanded and institutionalized in 1934. A separate girl's expedition called the Turquoise Trail began in that year also. In 1935, the group became a non-profit, educational organization entitled the Cottonwood Gulch Foundation, with property in Thoreau, New Mexico. Prairie Trek and the Cottonwood Gulch Foundation continue to serve as a pioneer program in educational summer camping; now serving the entire United States from its offices in Albuquerque, New Mexico. The collection consists of Mr. Howie's records concerning the creation of the Cottonwood Gulch Foundation and daily operations for the years 1926 to 1982. <http://indianahistory.org/library/manuscripts/collection%5Fguides/M0390.html>

The Minneapolis Church Federation was organized in 1927 from a merger between the Minneapolis Council of Churches and the Council of Religious Education, and in 1951 the organization assumed its present title. Other substantive files concern the council's women's organization (1927-1985); the ecumenical movement, especially relating to Catholic participation and to Christian-Jewish relations; children and young adult programs; the Council's activities in the area of civil rights and race relations; and the provision of chaplains and other religious services to prisons, nursing homes, and other institutions. The Division of Indian Work section documents the Council's work in combating many urban Indian social problems, including stocking food shelves, aid in low cost housing, heating assistance, chemical dependency programs, encouraging Indian self-help activities, resolving children's and youth problems, and making holiday donations. The collection includes administrative files of the council and of its divisions, departments, and programs. Units represented in the collection include Christian Education/Educational Ministries, Indian Work, Social Ministries, Ecumenical Relations/Faith in Dialogue, Social Services/Chaplaincy Services, and Women's organizations. Major programs include Congregations Concerned for Children, Meals on Wheels, Minnesota FoodShare, and Metro Paint-A-Thon. The collection also includes records from the Twin Cities Metropolitan Council of Churches, an overarching organization facilitating communication with other area church councils. Within the records of each of these units are found minutes, correspondence, and subject files. Materials on the following activities are found in records of the education units: Christian youth council, ecumenical youth encounter, life and leadership schools, Protestant committee on scouting, weekday church schools, and vacation church schools.

Montana

Higgins family. Maureen and Mike Mansfield Library. Missoula, MT. Contents: Barbara Hayes was born in Dundas, Ont., on 11 Mar. 1868 and died in Missoula, Mont., on 12 Mar. 1952. While visiting her brothers in Missoula she met Francis (Frank) Higgins. Frank Higgins was born in Missoula on 29 Dec. 1864. The two were married in 1892. Barbara Higgins was a member of the auxiliary to the United Spanish War Veterans and a member of the Dept. of Music, Missoula Woman's Club. Frank Higgins received his law degree from the University of Michigan. When Montana became a state he was a member of the first legislative assembly. He fought in the Spanish American War and in 1905 died from a disease contracted while fighting the war. Their son, Grant Higgins, was born in Missoula on 7 Sept. 1895 and died on 6 June 1978. Grant began school in Wallace, Idaho, continued his education at the Missoula County High School and Georgetown Preparatory School in Washington, D.C. Grant graduated from the University of Montana in 1923 with a degree in journalism. While at the university he worked for the Forest Service as a surveyor. In 1924, the Anaconda Mining Company at Bonner, Mont., hired him and he worked there in various positions until his retirement in 1964. Grant Higgins was well-known throughout the Missoula Valley as an avid skier and swimmer. He was active in the American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, and Missoula Ski Patrol. Includes papers of Grant Higgins including biographical data, general correspondence, business letters, tax records, legal documents, and clippings relating to Missoula Valley history and the history of the Higgins family; papers of Barbara Higgins, including scrapbooks containing household tips, recipes, and family photographs, personal correspondence, minute book (1925-1926) of Missoula Woman's Club Dept. of Music, and a memorial book (1952); and various family artifacts. BSA Troop 124 (Roundup). Records. Musselshell Valley Historical Museum. Roundup, MT. Contents: Roundup, MT, club for boys. The Boy Scouts of America was founded by Ernest Thompson Seton in 1910, modelled after a similar organization in England. Its chief goal was to provide young boys with training and experience in the outdoors. Troop 124 was established at least by 1954. At this time, the club had more than forty members. The troop followed the goals established by the Boy Scouts of America. In 1968, the Christian Science Church donated property to the city of Roundup, with the stipulation that the building be made available to the Scouts. Organizational records of the local Boy Scout troop. The collection consists of correspondence (1967-1968), financial records (1954-1955 and undated), and objects (undated). The correspondence contains letters from the Christian Science Church and the various Boy Scouts officials concerning the donation of property. The objects include three patches. McKay, Rollin H. Rollin H. McKay Collection. Maureen and Mike Mansfield Library, University of Montana. Missoula, MT. Contents: Born in Nebraska in 1878, Rollin H. McKay came to Missoula, MT, from Coos Bay, OR, in 1905. He practiced barbering with George Miller who operated a barber shop in the First National Bank building on East Front Street in Missoula. By 1911, he was in business as a commercial photographer in the Higgins Bank building. The noted Missoula photographer of the day was F.M. Ingalls who had been photographing Missoula people and scenes since the 1880s. By 1915 Ingalls no longer was in the photography business and McKay had moved to the First National Bank building on the corner of Higgins Avenue and Front Street, the former location of Ingalls's studio. In 1924 McKay built his own building at 120 North Higgins. During his career, McKay was the prominent photographer of Missoula. He photographed Missoula street scenes, outdoor views of the Missoula vicinity, native American scenes and Missoula area people. In addition, during the years that the University had no photographic facilities, and following Morton J. Elrod's disability, McKay photographed documented University buildings, people, and events. He was active in the business community in Missoula and served as president of the Chamber of Commerce in 1929. He was also a member of Rotary and the Elks, and helped start the Boy Scouts in western Montana. In 1946, he retired and his son-in-law, Richard C. Butler, took over the business. McKay died in Missoula on 21 Feb. 1960. This extensive collection of images documents western Montana, especially Missoula, the University of Montana, and numerous other towns and recreational areas, and offers a good overview of the work of a commercial photographer at this time. Documentation of Missoula is especially extensive, and includes the downtown business district, bridges, many residences, and the Missoula County fairgrounds. There are numerous images of the Florence Hotel, including the 1935 fire, and a series of the staff and studios of KGVO Radio. Since McKay was the primary photographer for the University of Montana, there are many images of the campus, including buildings, athletic events, and students. The collection also provides extensive documentation of western Montana, including the Bitterroot Valley and Stevensville, St. Ignatius and the Mission Valley, Flathead Lake and Polson, Alberton, Bearmouth, Lolo Pass, Ovando and the Blackfoot River Valley, and Paradise and the Flathead River Valley. Images of the Swan Valley are quite extensive and include Seeley Lake, Salmon Lake, Holland Lake, Placid Lake, and Lindbergh Lake. There are also images of both Glacier National Park and Yellowstone National Park. Agricultural images include those of wheat, apples, peas, and sugar beets, mostly in the Bitterroot Valley and other areas surrounding Missoula. There are also a few images of gold dredges. Images of Native Americans were mostly produced for scenic Montana postcards and provide no documentation of activities, tribal affiliation, or significance of the individuals. Most of the images are prints, postcards, or flexible film negatives. There are also many aerial photographs (mostly of Missoula), and some panoramic photographs of Missoula and the University of Montana. The vast majority of the images appear to be McKay's, though those produced after his retirement were likely taken by Richard Butler or his designee. However, there are a number of images that precede McKay's arrival in Montana and the establishment of his photography business. Some have attribution statements; others are clearly printed from negatives produced by F.M. Ingalls, whose studio McKay occupied after Ingalls's retirement. Finding aid in the repository. ———. Walter Tuchscherer. Maureen and Mike Mansfield Library. Missoula, MT. Contents: Walter Tuchscherer graduated from Gonzaga University, in Spokane, Wash., in 1909. Due to his interest in the family brewery business, he graduated from the Hantke's Brewers' School in Milwaukee in 1915. Tuchscherer was fluent in German, and was deployed to the Siberian front in 1918 to serve as a translator for the U.S. intelligence division. Returning to Anaconda, Mont., in 1919, Tuchscherer found the family brewery closed due to Prohibition. He became a co-owner of Washoe Coal, with his brother-in-law R.A. Kelly and married Maybelle Malloy in 1921. In 1925 the Tuchscherer family became the owners of the Standard Drug store. Tuchscherer again returned to school, this time to the Capitol School of Pharmacy in Denver, Colo. He passed the state boards in 1930 to become a pharmacist. When Prohibition ended, Tuchscherer returned to working at the Anaconda Brewery. He worked at the brewery during the days, which left his wife Maybelle, to run the drug store in the day, and at night Tuchscherer attended to his pharmacist career. The Anaconda Brewery closed in 1958 and Tuchscherer returned to working at the pharmacy full-time. He died in 1960. Memorabilia from Tuchscherer's college years at Gonzaga College, World War I memorabilia from Siberia, writings by Tuchscherer; correspondence to and from him; photographs; and artifacts. Topics include World War I; his wedding; and his involvement with the Elks, the Knights of Columbus, the Boy Scouts, and the Rotary Club. Badgett, Kenneth Woltz. Kenneth Woltz Badgett (collector) papers, 1900-2001. Southern Historical Collection, University of North Carolina. Chapel Hill, NC. Contents: The collection includes items relating to Devotion, the Surry County, NC, estate that Richard J. Reynolds, Jr., and Elizabeth Dillard Reynolds built between 1930 and 1939 for entertaining and farming. Folger family materials include a bound memorial address for Alonzo Dillard Folger (1888-1941) of Dobson, NC, who was a lawyer in Mount Airy, NC, and served in the US Congress, 1939-1941; three photographic portraits of John Hamlin Folger (1880-1963), also a lawyer and legislator of Mount Airy; and a photograph of the Folger house in Dobson, ca. 1900. Hamlin family materials include photocopies of clippings relating to fiddler Stephen Crawley Hamlin (1869-1936) and copies of photographs of Dobson and of family members. Materials relating to the W. E. Reid Company, general merchants of Dobson, include photocopies of letters, bills, and receipts, chiefly from 1931; a photocopy of a 1935 employee account book; a coin offering the bearer a $1.00 discount on merchandise at the store; and a copy of a photograph, ca. 1935, of the store. The addition of June 2001 contains research files compiled by Badgett relating to the Boy Scouts of America. The bulk of these files are comprised of materials, 1999-2001, primarily newspaper clippings and some pamphlets, that broadly address the topic of the Boy Scouts and homosexuality. A smaller group of materials on this topic dates back as far as 1913 and includes, "Guiding the Adolescent" by D. A. Thom, M.D., a 1933 pamphlet issued by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor. Also included is a file devoted to Boy Scouts and minorities as well as copies of "The Official Report of the Second Biennial Conference of Boy Scout Executives," 1922, and a thesis, 1939, "Scouting Among Primitive Boys," by Ernest E. Voss. www.lib.unc.edu/mss/inv/b/Badgett,Kenneth%5FWoltz.html

BSA Old Hickory Council. Old Hickory Council Records, 1912-2001. Southern Historical Collection, University of North Carolina. Chapel Hill, NC. Contents: Records, beginning in 1917, of the Old Hickory Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Included are letters, meeting minutes, reports, financial materials, clippings, training materials, membership lists, photographs, newsletters, pamphlets, and other items. Documentation is uneven; for some years, there are many informative letters, reports, and other materials, while other years are represented by only a few relatively minor items. Some items relate to scouting activities during World War I and World War II; many items document the planning and operation of camping sites, especially, beginning in the 1950s, Camp Raven Knob. Also included are photocopies of two 1964 documents relating to integration of the Council's troops; a videotape version of a 1955 film about Camp Raven Knob; and two audiotaped interviews, 1976 and 1982, with scout leaders. Two photographs of African-American scouts associated with Mount Zion Baptist Church, Winston-Salem, NC, 1944-1950s; and a CD of photographs entitled "Wahissa and CRK Images Vol. 1, 1500+ Shotos," 1970s-1990s. www.lib.unc.edu/mss/inv/b/Boy%5FScouts%5Fof%5FAmerica.Old%5FHickory%5FCouncil.html

- *Rockefeller Jr, John D. General files, 1890-1961. Rockefeller Archive Center. Sleepy Hollow, NY. Contents: John D. Rockefeller, Jr. joined his father's personal office on October 1, 1897, and became his father's closest associate in the growing philanthropic activities of the office. Although Mr. Rockefeller, Sr. made only occasional visits to the office after 1897, he maintained close contact with it's activities./ In 1897, there were seven employees in the office, by 1960, the number had grown to over 200. John D. Jr.'s five sons joined the office during the 1930's./ Under the guidance of Rockefeller, Jr. and a small number of close associates, the office supervised a growing number of diversified philanthropies. During his lifetime he gave over $550,000,000 to many charitable projects. This collection documents the activities and interests of three generations of the John D. Rockefeller family. In light of the activity of the Rockefeller foundations in the BSA, other collections located at the Rockefeller Archive Center should be examined for possible BSA material.

*The Davison Fund Inc. Davison Fund I and Davison Fund II Collections (IV3B5 and IV2B8), 1930-1942. Rockefeller Archive Center. Sleepy Hollow, NY. Contents: The Davison Fund was established by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. in 1930 to systematize his personal giving. The instrument creating the Fund contained neither instructions as to beneficiaries nor limitation as to field. In general, the program developed from two motivations: an interest in the social, cultural, educational, and health needs of New York City and its environs, and the recognition of the importance of "certain problems which cut across national and international boundaries and which invite the cooperation and support of thoughtful men everywhere." These records were transferred by the Rockefeller Foundation to the Rockefeller Archive Center. The collection includes correspondence, minutes, docket, reports, bulletins, policy and procedure files, and vouchers. Approximately two-thirds of the records consist of correspondence and reports relating to grants. In light of the activity of the Rockefeller foundations in the BSA, other collections located at the Rockefeller Archive Center should be examined for possible BSA material.

Thomas Asylum for Orphan and Destitute Indian Children. Photographs of activities and facilities (ca. 1895-1955). New York State Library. Albany, NY. Contents: The series consists of black and white photographs depicting children and staff of the school at work and recreation, as well as the structures of the school and its physical environment and surroundings. The exact purpose for which the photographs were taken is not known, but they document the conditions of facilities and the work and educational environment of the school, and may have supported a request for funds for capital improvements or expansion. Occasional cropping directions indicate some may have been used in publications. The subjects of the photographs include: individual and group portraits of children and staff (many at graduation, school exercises, fair exhibits, or as part of class or team sport groups); children's class exercises and work activities (especially farming and gardening); Indian Boy and Girl Scouts (including Frank Beauvais and Clarence Blueye, first Indian Eagle Scouts in the U.S.); interior views of buildings; exterior views of administration, residence, school, hospital, and farm buildings and grounds; buildings under construction; and aerial views of grounds. Most photographs are undated and unlabeled; when not stated, subjects have been assigned by Archives staff. Sizes range from 3" x 4" to 8" x 10" and some are mounted.

Harrison, Edwin Stafford Harrison Family Collection. Houston Metropolitan Research Center, Houston Public Library. Houston, TX. Contents: Edwin Stafford Harrison was born in Houston in 1912. He graduated from Yates High School. At Prairie View A&M University he lettered in track and tennis, and was voted All-American in football in 1933. He subsequently played semi-professional football in San Juan, Puerto Rico. His sojourn in the Caribbean marked his last absence from Houston. Until his death forty-five years later in 1979, his interests and work in Houston involved him in an impressive range of activities. Mr. Harrison found strength in diversity and was a man who thrived on doing many things at the same time. From 1936 to 1941 he was a labor organizer for the CIO and an officer for its local division at Hughes Tool Company. He founded the Houston Colored Coaches and Officials Association in 1936 and served as its president. He was also a leader of the Third Ward Civic Club and an active member of the Harris County Democratic Party, which named him to its Executive Committee in 1977. Participation in these and many other organizations, such as the NAACP, Hester House and the Houston Negro Chamber of Commerce only supplemented Mr. Harrison's primary interests: the Boy Scouts of America and United Methodist Church.

Contents: This collection consists of one series pertaining to the Department of Youth Leadership (now the Department of Recreation Management and Youth Leadership). The majority of the collection is correspondence, found in boxes 1, 2, 3, and 5. The rest of the collection is mainly a small history of the department and reports prepared for and by the department. These are found in boxes 3, 4, and 5. The Department of Youth Leadership is a unique training center in the College of Physical Education. It is specifically designed to train LDS college men for a career of service to the Boy Scouts of America. The Youth Leadership Department also provides training for volunteer scouting service in the wards and branches of the Church. Royal Stone, deputy regional scout executive serving the four northwestern states and Alaska, resigned his position to organize the department. After four years of administering the department, Royal Stone resigned to accept a position with the head office of the National Council of Boy Scouts. Thane Packer was named his successor. The department has now been renamed as the Department of Recreation Management and Youth Leadership. Restricted. Closed for 25 years after the creation of the records and thereafter open to the public after consultation with the University Archivist and in accordance with the General Restriction Statement of the L. Tom Perry Special Collections.

Sneesby, Jack T. Memoir, ca. 1993-1995. Wisconsin Historical Society Archives. Madison, WI. Contents: A two-part memoir by Sneesby, a life-long resident of Wisconsin, concerning his youth in various cities and his World War II POW experiences. The first part concerns his military experiences as a member of the 338th Infantry Regiment, Co. I. Expanding on actual journal entries made at the time, Sneesby relates the story of his capture on November 1, 1944 in France [?] and his subsequent seven months of captivity at Stalag IIIB at Furstenburg and at Stalag IIIA at Luckenwalde. He details the daily routine of camp life, including descriptions of the prisoners' Christmas "celebration" in 1944, daily news updates of Allied advances, and the elaborate barter economy that existed within the camps. Also noteworthy are brief descriptions of routine infantry patrols before his capture and of the devastated appearance of Magdeburg near the end of the war. The second part of the memoir is a more complete autobiography in which he recounts growing up in Lake Geneva, New London, Amery, and Berlin, Wis.--all cities where his father worked as a clergyman. He describes fun with friends, family relationships, Scouting (a life-long activity), jobs he held as a youth, attendance at Ripon College both before and after the war, his military training and service, graduate studies, marriage, and his establishment of a dental practice in Menomonie, Wis.

UWRF Pigeon Lake and Clam Lake Field Stations. Pigeon Lake/Clam Lake Field Station Records, 1959-1997. Area Research Center & University Archives, University of Wisconsin. River Falls, WI. Contents: The University of Wisconsin (UW) System acquired the Pigeon Lake and Clam Lake Field Stations to serve as centers for studying, teaching, and research in any discipline in which learning can be enhanced by utilizing a natural, relatively undisturbed, wilderness environment./ Pigeon Lake Field Station: Pigeon Lake Field Station is located in the southwest part of the Washburn Ranger District in the Chequamegon National Forest. The field station is four miles west of Drummond, Wisconsin, in northern Bayfield County. The camp was originally constructed in the early 1930s to house members of the Civilian Conservation Corps. From 1938 to 1959, the field station was used by Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, church groups and other organizations. On July 14, 1959, the land was purchased from the US Forest Service by the Board of Regents of State Colleges under a surplus property arrangement. Over the next 16 years, the field station increased in size from 11.5 to 50 acres. In 1973, the State Universities and the UW merged. The Board of Regents passed a resolution approving the Articles of Agreement. This agreement formed the basis for the Pigeon Lake Field Station Consortium and provided guidelines for operation of the field station until 1982. In 1982, the Board of Regents dissolved the consortium and transferred responsibility for the field station to UW-River Falls. The university is responsible for the financial and academic administration of the program. During the summer, many college students attend Pigeon Lake to earn credits in courses such as art, biology, business and teacher education. The credits earned are resident credits for any of the member campuses of the University of Wisconsin System. The field station is also open for educational meetings, non-credit programs and private use by individuals and groups./ Clam Lake Field Station: Clam Lake Field Station is located in the Hayward Ranger District of the Chequamegon National Forest, 35 miles north of Park Falls, Wisconsin. The facilities at Clam Lake were constructed in the mid-1960s to house the Clam Lake Job Corps Conservation Center. In 1969 the Job Corps facilities were made available to state governments for "Socially Useful Purposes." In 1970, the Board of Regents obtained title to the vast majority of personal and real property associated with the center. The collection contains administrative records from 1959 through 1997. Budget reports, building projects, correspondence, food service and instructor information are contained in this collection. Additionally, there are written histories of Pigeon Lake, summer class brochures, photographs, slides, programming brochures and policy information. Also included in the collection are early records from Clam Lake Field Station, which mainly encompass the years 1960-1975. <http://www.uwrf.edu/library/arc/uwreg/uwseries132.php>

Of particular note, there are files related to Teton Park and the Jackson Hole National Monument. Personal and family material is also contained. The second series (1952-1960) relates to the governor's office including correspondence, subject files, legislation and photographs related to the many issues handled by Governor Simpson. The third series (1942-1967) relates to Simpson's service as a U.S. Senator. Included are subject files, photographs, correspondence, and newspaper clippings related to the issues he covered as a senator. The fourth series (1892-1995) covers Simpson's retirement years. Major activities covered include the Yellowstone National Park Centennial Celebration, for which he was on the planning commission, material relating to his numerous board appointments, and large amounts of material related to Alan Simpson's senate career including his campaign files and correspondence between Milward and Alan. Much of the material in this series is personal in nature including many family history files and many files of newspaper clippings, photographs, and correspondence related to his friends and colleagues including James Watt, Malcolm Wallop, and Nellie Tayloe Ross. A final series (1925-1977) includes oversized material and artifacts from the other four series. . During his lifetime, Simpson served on many boards including Husky Oil, the Boy Scouts of America, the Buffalo Bill Historical Center, the Gottsche Foundation, the University of Wyoming Board of Trustees, and the Wyoming Game and Fish Commission. Simpson died in 1993.
